

Service. # It's possible that Omaha could see up to 6 inches of snow by the time the system moves on, said Cathy Zapotocny, a meteorologist at the weather service's Valley office. Sign up for World-Herald news alerts # Be the first to know when news happens. Get the latest breaking headlines sent straight to your inbox. # The snow will be wetter than a normal January snow, Zapotocny said, which means that it could pull down some power lines. # City of Omaha trucks were out spraying brine on major streets early Friday, said Austin Rowser, the city's street maintenance engineer. # " We'll be working through the night depending on what comes down, " Rowser said. # Snow amounts will be higher the farther south and east you go, so fans heading to Kansas City for the Chiefs' playoff game Saturday should set aside an extra hour for the trip, said Jonathan Welsh of the weather service's Kansas City-area office. # The weather service issued a winter weather advisory for the area from 6 p.m. Friday until noon Saturday. Total snow accumulations, mainly from 2 to 6 inches, are expected in the advisory area, although higher amounts are possible in spots. # Zapotocny said the wind shouldn't be much of a factor in this storm, and temperatures are expected to remain around 30. # Dinner party in snowhouse, dessert off the ceiling. Four adventurous couples ate steak in a snowhouse they carved in the middle of a giant drift on Feb. 18, 1960. They refused to give their names as they dined on charcoal broiled steak, salad, and several vegetables. Mulled wine and a lantern provided warmth. Dessert